

ASTRID LINDGREN'S VÄRLD

WELCOME TO PIPPI LONGSTOCKING'S 60TH BIRTHDAY

Where fairy tales come true

Villekulla Cottage really does exist. Just like Noisy Village, Matt's Castle and many of the other places Astrid Lindgren wrote about in her books. They're all here in Astrid Lindgren's World.

In these storybook settings we perform scenes from Astrid's best loved books every day. More than 60 of her most popular children's characters transform Astrid Lindgren's World into a magical land of make-believe and entertainment.

You can also meet the characters for yourself and join in their fun and games between performances: Pippi in Villekulla Cottage, Emil in Katthult, Ronja in Matt's Castle and Karlsson on his roof. The other characters, too, are usually at home – except Rasmus, of course, who is almost always on the run from the children's home.

A visit here is like stepping inside the world of Astrid Lindgren's books. So take your children by the hand and enjoy the real-life adventures awaiting you – just like Astrid Lindgren describes them.

The stage is set for fun

Enjoy live entertainment all day long, both on the stage and in the form of improvisations around the park. Specially written song and dance numbers based on Astrid Lindgren's stories are performed on the Lilla Scenen stage just inside the entrance and on the main Stora Scenen stage in Wild Rose Valley every day.

Between performances you can meet the characters in the various places where they live – and that's where the fun really starts! For example, if you want to go to Wild Rose Valley, you may be stopped by Tengil's soldiers at the gate. If you're lucky, Jonathan Lionheart may come to your aid. Otherwise you'll need to know the password to be let in. And if you visit Villekulla Cottage, don't be surprised to see the policemen Kling and Klang racing past at full speed in their efforts to take Pippi off to the local children's home.

There's fun and games all around you – all day, every day. Everyone who wants to, is welcome to join in. And, whether you're three years old, five, seven or seventy-seven, who can resist the offer to play a part in the pranks of Pippi, Karlsson or Emil?

Full details of the season's theatre performances are posted on the website www.alv.se from 1 March 2005.

Astrid Lindgren-gården

Astrid Lindgren grew up on Näs Farm on the outskirts of Vimmerby. With her brother and two sisters she enjoyed a safe, secure childhood – and freedom galore. Not only Astrid's parents, but also the housemaids and farmhands, cowherds and milkmaids stood for the security. Freedom came from the fact that the adults had so much to do, they rarely had time to intervene in the children's wild games.

"We played so much and so hard," Astrid has recalled, "it's a wonder we didn't play ourselves to death!"

If you're eager to find out what made an ordinary, Swedish country girl grow up into an author admired and appreciated all over the world, visit the Astrid Lindgren Centre. It's open all year. (See www.alg.se for opening hours.) During the season the Astrid Lindgren Centre is open at the same time as the park.

Everyone is welcome to Pippi's 60th birthday party!

The first Pippi Longstocking book was published in 1945, so now it's time for the strongest girl in the world to celebrate her 60th birthday. And everyone is welcome to join in the party at Astrid Lindgren's World.

The celebrations start on 14 May and continue until 28 August. As usual, the programme includes lots of music and entertainment – plus special jubilee performances. And all the other figures in the park will be helping Pippi to celebrate.

Phone or visit www.alv.se for bookings, more information and complete price lists. We look forward to seeing you soon!
